New Copper Valley Cell Tower Improves Communications Coverage in Cordova

Copper Valley Wireless has recently added a cellular tower near the Eyak Slough subdivision at Mile 6 of the Copper River Highway to improve communications coverage for area residents and businesses. "This enhancement to our cellular network demonstrates Copper Valley's long-term commitment to expanding and improving communication options in the Cordova," said Copper Valley CEO, Dave Dengel.

The new cell tower, erected in December, provides both voice and data (Internet) coverage to homes and businesses in the Eyak Slough area. "Feedback from customers so far has been positive. Folks are telling us that they can now get strong and consistent signal for their phones inside buildings." Dengel said.

The new tower is the fifth Copper Valley tower located in or near Cordova. The other towers are located at the boat harbor, Tripod Hill, Heney Ridge, and Boswell Bay.
